

WAYS TO HELP BCCC

The Brasstown Community Center is a 501C3 charitable organization. All proceeds from donations and fundraisers go towards the Community Center for upkeep, maintenance and improvements to the facility.

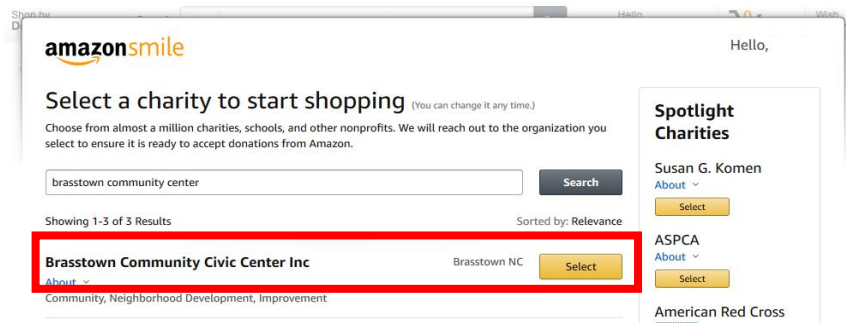

Here are several ways that you can help support us so we can keep providing a clean and safe facility for the community.

- 4) Rent the facility for an event - birthday party, wedding reception, baby shower, family reunion, craft fair, yard sale, educational class, etc.

We have several options: a large hall/gymnasium facility with a stage in the corner (tables and chairs are available for any setup), a small community room for cozier meetings or reunions, a separate building known as the “schoolhouse” with a classroom setup that can stay put for more than a day or two.

We also have a “Type 1 commercial community kitchen”. This commercial kitchen is available to residents of both Clay and Cherokee counties. We worked with local small farmers and home gardeners to supply a certified commercial kitchen that can be used for their canning and preserving needs in such a way that they may meet the new requirements to sell their product.

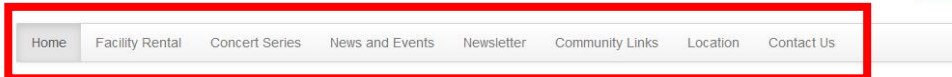

The rental fees for the Brasstown Community Center facilities are as follows:

- Large Hall/Gymnasium (includes kitchen)

Brasstown Community Civic Center

The Brasstown Community Civic Center (BCCC) is located in the scenic mountains of Clay County, North Carolina.

Brasstown is a community of about 600 people living on both the Clay and Cherokee sides of the county line. In 1992, local residents, in cooperation with the Clay County Commissioners, developed and elected their leadership and incorporated BCCC as a tax exempt, non-profit organization. This organization "promotes the welfare, civic spirit and pride" of Brasstown and the immediate vicinity.

Since 1994 the Community Center has served as a popular location for concerts, gospel sings, potluck dinners, entertainment, art exhibits, family reunions, arts and crafts shows, youth and adult basketball and educational classes. There are also fund-raisers held for many different worthy causes: such as cancer,
